

October 2011

10% Discount Offer

X-Test™ is continuing our efforts to reach out to the security and law enforcement communities following our current success with the ASIS and the upcoming Milipol security exhibitions. We are excited about the interest in our products which are currently being utilized by multiple federal, military and local law enforcement security organizations.

Given our current production capabilities with existing orders, we are offering a special offer during the month of November 2011.

All orders placed for each training kit in the above brochure will receive a 10 percent discount.

As always we appreciate your business and look forward to enhancing your explosive/screening training and awareness.

In addition please take a moment to look at the current video produced, which shows the value of our products.
